

my cats, at home

Yes, women want babies... Fur babies.

Julie Martinez Garcia, writer

Some text here about how cats are so much better than human babies, but without mentioning human babies, because human babies are not what you picked the magazine up for. You picked it up because you saw happy people with cute living things and thought, woah I never knew people could be so happy about cats!

My cats are my babies and no one will convince me otherwise. In fact, if you even try to convince me, I'll tell you all about the wonderful world of cats that you're apparently unaware of.

Maybe someday you'll understand why one fourth of women are not having kids, a record high, or why some of the happiest people are unmarried women without children. Maybe then you'll understand why we suddenly love ourselves a fluffy, baby-like cat..

“because human babies are not what you picked the magazine up for.”

And then we have more body copy down here, body copy, body copy, body copy, body copy, touching on why cats are so much better than babies. Maybe there's a listicle or something. Doesn't really matter for the moodboard, right Ken?

We like the pictures of people smiling, clearly happy to have their silly little cats. The one on the far right is not such a great example of this happiness, but there is definitely some smugness there, and that smugness is what this magazine is all about. Ken, search me up in twenty years. I might have created something just like this.

Citations

Top left photo

"woman in black long sleeve dress smiling" by Alp Ar Tunga Jabbarli on Pexels. <https://www.pexels.com/photo/woman-in-black-long-sleeve-dress-smiling-15393185/>

Top right photo

"a woman sitting with her cat" by Meruyert Gonullu on Pexels. <https://www.pexels.com/photo/a-woman-sitting-with-her-cat-7244717/>

Bottom left photo

"crop smiling woman embracing cute cat on white background" by Sam Lion on Pexels. <https://www.pexels.com/photo/crop-smiling-woman-embracing-cute-cat-on-white-background-6001531/>

Current background photo

"short fur black and brown cat" by 99 clicks on Pexels. <https://www.pexels.com/photo/short-fur-black-and-brown-cat-3054570/>